Now you can see and hear why Pediatrics authors think their study is important and how it might even change the way you practice.

The Pediatrics editorial board invites select authors of early release articles to submit video abstracts. Charts, maps, video clips and various backgrounds illustrate the visual- and audio-enhanced abstracts.

Check out recent video abstracts on substance use, bronchiolitis, vaccine exemptions, obesity, gun violence and more at <http://pediatrics.aappublications.org/videoabstracts>.

This month, authors discuss findings of an early-release study on EMLA cream for infants.
